GRAND KNIGHT MESSAGE

I just returned from a wake for a very close childhood friend and again contemplated how insignificant we are in this universe. What is really important in life. Our faith ? Our family ? Prosperity? Position? I think after we die our life is judged by two things. First, how did we treat other people and second what did we do for other people. I think as a Knight we have the opportunity to do things for others that many times outlive us. We are now in the most critical time of our growth as a Council We are trying to move from a group of men meeting one Wednesday night a month to a organization that has the ability to make important things happen. We are forming committees at the next meeting to empower us to take action in all areas of our faith community. These committees will be the backbone of this Council and they will determine if we are able to do things for others that will outlive us. I ask that all Knights attend this meeting, find a committee you like and take a active part in our Council's future.

Jim Lehman
Grand Knight
